DC Water Rate Hike Approved

The first water rate hike in Daly City since 1913 was approved by resolution of the city council Monday night.

Scheduled to go into effect by Sept. 1, the new rate is a 75 cent average increase from the old charge of $6.60 for 2,200 cubic feet.

The rate increase was suggested by a Washington Associates engineering survey of the Daly City Water System. The survey states the water system is in need of $1.5 million worth of repairs.

City manager Edward Frank said the water rate increase would avoid the possibility of any bond issue. The rate hike will bring in $126,000 in revenue per year.

Included in the water rate resolution was a stipulation that large consumers would benefit no more than small consumers from the increase,

The 75 cent hike is the lowest of the propsed rate hikes in the survey report to insure proper reserves for human consumption and fire prevention.

City Engineer William Chapman earlier pointed out the water rates presently are too low to maintain the use of the system adequately for domestic and fire supplies.

Fireworks Not Allowed In Daly City

Fourth of July is only about a week away and the Daly City fire department would like to pass this notice on to you.

Ordinance 489 states: "It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to store, manufacture, sell, discharge or explode any fireworks or firecrackers, or any explosives of any kind, or any similar agency, that creates noise or fire within the City of Daly City."

"We are not trying to put a damper on the holiday," Frank Specht, battalion chief, said. "We are trying to prevent personal injury and property damage. Past experience has shown us that this ordinance was posted for a good reason. Let's all observe the holiday and the ordinance and have nothing to regret," he advised.

Association Stays Neutral On St. Plans

The board of the Broadmoor Property Owners' Asociation, Inc., passed a motion recently on the White street extension plans. It wished to be considered neutral in this matter because of the fact that it represents all the homeowners of Broadmoor and there is a mixed feeling about this among them.

The association requested that it be provided with the latest plans regarding this subject by the engineering department and the county supervisor.

It also requested that all private telephone calls and letters from individuals or organizations using the name of the Broadmoor Property Owners' Association, Inc., pro or con, be disregarded.

The association held its monthly meeting on June 14.

South SF Sailor Lost In Ocean

Airman Apprentice Michael J. Neville, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Neville, 222 Magnolia avenue, South San Francisco, fell to his death from the carrier Hancock last Sunday in Far Eastern waters.

The Navy said that five ships of the Far East Fleet searched the sea for several hours, but could not locate the body.

The youth attended South San Francisco High School before joining the Navy. His father is assistant director of public works for South City.

Pac. Telephone Center Will Open In Colma

Pacific Telephone will open a new information center at its office at 359 Washington street, Colma, Saturday.

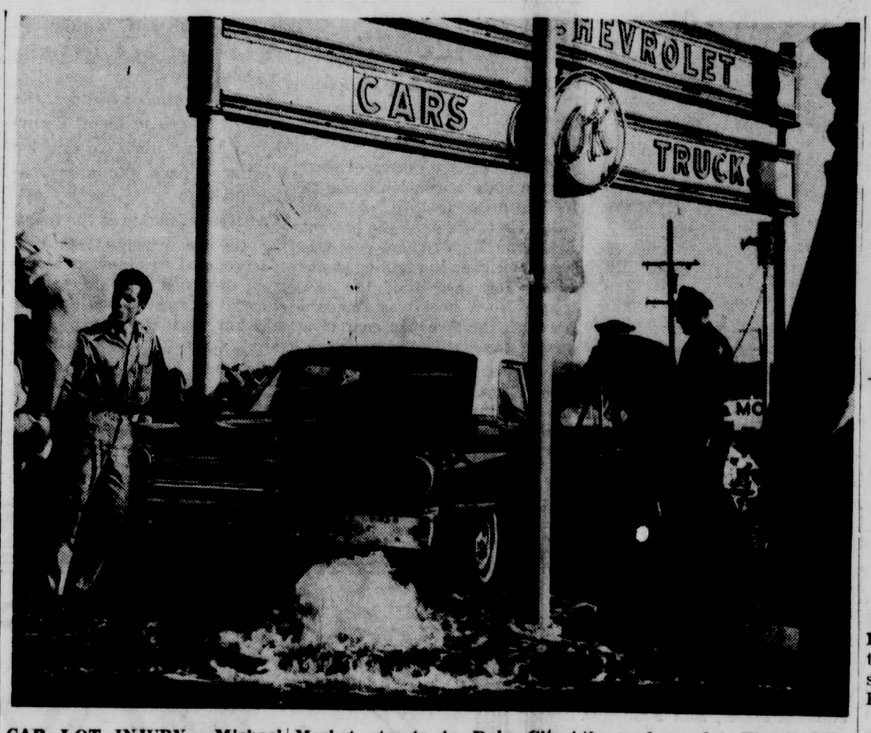
While the office is the fourth such center to serve San Francisco customers, primary reason for its installation is to meet the tremendous growth of the North Peninsula, the telephone company said.

Eventually, the office will serve South San Francisco, Pacifica, San Bruno, Colma, Daly City and Westlake.

These subscribers currently are served out of offices located in various centers in San Francisco.

Switchboard equipment, installed at an investment of some $127,000, will accommodate 36 operators in the two-story telephone building.

The office is also expected to create employment for many girls who were graduated from high schools in the region this month.



CAR LOT INJURY — Michael R. Johnson, 24, of San Francisco, was critically injured on Thursday, June 21, when he was struck by a used car he was examining at the Gateway Chevrolet lot at Mission and Market streets in Daly City. Frank P. Garibaldi, 45, of Colma, prominent North County flower grower, attempted a U turn, lost control, jumped a curb, snapped off a fire hydrant and crashed into a Cadillac in the used car lot. The Cadillac was pushed forward into a Mercury which slammed into Johnson. Garibaldi was booked for drunk driving.

Pool Meeting Optimistic; Further Study Imminent

The proposed project to finance a Westmoor High School swimming pool made its yearly appearance Tuesday evening, June 19, and met with optimistic response.

The meeting, called by Fred Adams, incoming president of the Westmoor High School PTA, was held at the Jefferson district school office to see if there is sufficient community interest in backing such a project.

Representatives of the city, the elementary and high school systems, the Westlake, Broadmoor and St. Francis Heights improvement associations, the Westlake and Skyline Plaza marchants' associations, Westmoor High School and the two district superintendents came to the unanimous conclusion that a pool was needed.

Following the verification of intent, the group launched a committee to look into the feasibility of financing by:

(1) See if county funds are available for unincorporated Broadmoor, which could be used to help finance construction of a pool.

(2) Checking into the legality if the people are sincere, of forming an assessment district in the Broadmoor, Westlake and St. Francis Heights area. A small tax would be levied for the next several years to raise the money.

(3) Assessing a charge of 50 cents to the monthly water bill until enough money had been acquired to finance the pool.

The estimated cost of the pool, which would have to be enclosed because of weather conditions at Westmoor, is $300,000.

Following the opening of the meeting, Adams called on Jefferson High School district Superintendent Ed Morgan to give a brief history on what the board has done in the past on the subject of a pool.

Morgan told the audience that the master plan, which was approved in 1955, originally called for space for a pool. Morgan said the facilities in the gymnasium and locker rooms have been constructed to accommodate a pool—but that as long as the district is under the California state school district

BA Rapid Transit To Follow Freeway Route To Daly City

Approximately 20 per cent of the Bay Area's proposed rapid transit system will be situated within or adjacent to regional automobile freeways.

This was reported by consulting engineers to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, which released a detailed photo-rendering of the transit station planned for Ocean avenue in San Francisco.

The station will be located within the center strip of the planned new Southern Freeway near Balboa Park and San Francisco City College. It is part of a 1½-mile freeway transit segment which will extend across the southern portion of the city between the Mission District and the transit terminal station at Daly City

Another 3½ miles of the system will be situated within the center strip of the new Grove-Shafter Freeway in north Oakland. This segment will extend from the MacArthur boulevard station to beyond College avenue on the central Contra Costa transit line.

All told, the engineering consultants said, nearly 14 miles of the proposed 75-mile first-stage system will follow automobile freeways in Alameda, Contra Costa and San Francisco Counties.

The remaining nine miles will be constructed adjacent to the outer roadway lanes of the Nimitz Freeway in west Oakland and the State Route 24 Freeway in central Contra Costa County.

The Southern Freeway line will be built within the center strip, at depths varying from grade level to almost 18 feet below the surface of the roadway. A portion of the Ocean avenue station actually will be situated below the inner lanes of the freeway itself.

All stations on the system will be provided with facilities for direct transfer of local and feeder bus passengers to the regional rapid transit trains, as depicted in the photo-rendering.

BARTD engineers said the transit lines generally will occupy about one-fourth of the right-of-way normally required for a six-lane freeway. Yet they will provide a carrying capacity for 30,000 seated passengers per hour in each direction—about five times as great.

"Such freeway use will permit the system to be developed at a minimum cost in construction funds and usurpation of valuable land," BARTD general manager John M. Peirce explained.

"And above all, it demonstrates the close co-operation of the California State Division of Highways in attempting to provide the people of the Bay Area with a balanced system of inter-community transportation," Pierce concluded.

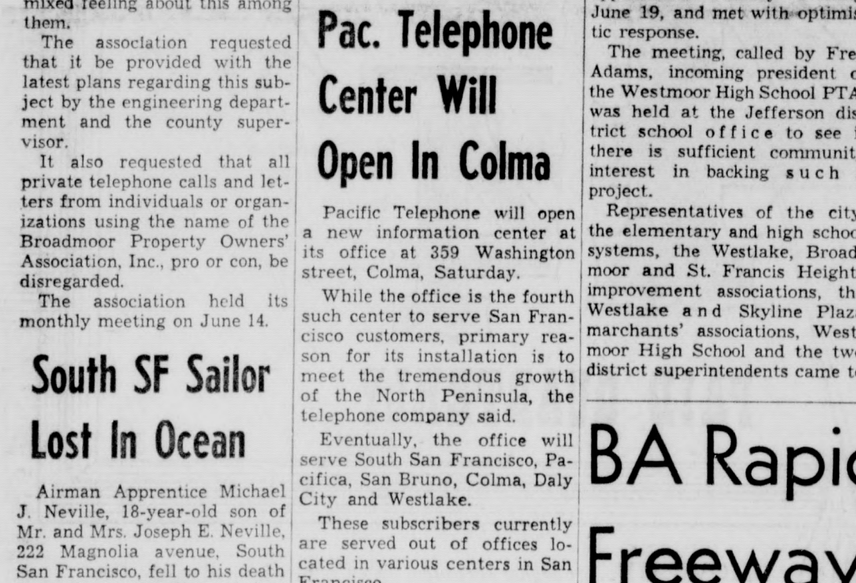
$1000 Burglary At Gas Station

Approximately $1000 was taken from the Wilshire gas station at 2000 Junipero Serra boulevard Sunday.

Daly City police reported that the burglary occurred between 12 midnight and 7 a. m. and that the safe apparently was opened with the combination.



THORNTON BEACH PARKING LOT—The state division of highways is currently building 1,600 feet of access road and a 60,000-square-foot parking lot at Thornton Beach. By September 1, the state plans completion of the project. Future plans for Thornton Beach State Park, some 51-plus acres with a shoreline frontage of 3,091 feet bordering the western edge of Daly City, call for a swimming and picnicking area to be fashioned in a low sheltered cove.

Tentative City Budget Okayed

A preliminary budget of $3,058,970 for the fiscal year beginning July 1 was adopted Monday night by the Daly City Council.

Last year's budget was $2,802,911, a difference of $256,059.

Major increases in the budget were funds for capital outlay which will jump $132,818 and salaries which will rise $53,797, a 5 per cent overall increase.

City Manager Edward Frank expressed the opinion that no tax increase will be forthcoming for the coming fiscal year.

Finance Director Joseph Arch stated last week, however, that there would almost have to be a slight increase in taxes if the recommended budget was adopted.

Councilmen said the final budget will be adopted at the council's second meeting in July. The preliminary budget adopted Monday night was shaved from original departmental requests which totaled $3,186,496.

Expenditures for the new budget are as follows: Salaries, $1,397,128; materials, supplies and services, $522,951; other charges, $329,425; capital outlay, $687,735; debt service, $72,171, and reserves and contingencies, $49, 560.

BARRY SAYS HE WAS THE TRIGGER MAN

It's me, I got a gun now." These words prompted Barry Delfino, 20-year-old member of the brother team to trigger a shotgun murder on Thornton Beach last April 17.

Young Delfino told a jury in the San Mateo County Superior Court which is trying both himself and his brother Larry 21, on a charge of murdering Williard "The Angel" Lopez that he fired the fatal shot.

The charge, according to a corner's report, put 174 pellets between Lopez' forehead and mid section.

Defino assured the jury he fired the shotgun blast in self defense. He said that he and his brothers, Larry and Richard, 15, went to a beach party with only friendly intentions, until one guest, "Chico" Gebhardt, cut Barry on the temple with a knife.

According to Barry, the brother returned to the "party" with a gun and fired four shotgun blasts into a clump of

Steep Grade Fatal For Tractor Driver

By Jack Wood

I watched the grader spray a circular fan of white water at the crest of the hill at Thornton Beach.

It was at least a 100-foot almost sheer drop to the beach floor where the O. E. Jones Grading Company of Berkeley was in the stages of building a parking lot and access road to the beach area.

"That looks dangerous to me," I commented to grading company foreman W. Houck as the heavy equipment teetered on the brink of the cliff.

"It might look dangerous, but the driver does it every day," Houck commented.

Houck said the tractor driver would come down the sheer slope. I thought it was impossible.

The slope appeared too steep for any vehicle to climb it, not to mention trying to push a pile of dirt down it.

DC MENTAL HEALTH CLINIC IS PROPOSED

A mental health clinic in the Daly City area was proposed at the June 20 meeting of the Daly City Youth Study Commission.

Elementary school district superintendent Richard Foster, heading up a committee composed of Westlake pediatrician Dr. Charles Weill and Edward Morgan, high school district head are to contact San Mateo county supervisors on the program.

Increasing Demand

Possibility of using state and federal fund grants was discussed.

The proposal followed a talk by Dr. Weill, Morgan and Foster on early identification of anti-social behavior in children.

Foster and Morgan urged need of more mental health facilities and personnel to take care of increasing demands on the school districts.

Statistics were cited at the meeting, showing that northern San Mateo county has a higher percentage of mentally disturbed youths than anywhere else in the state.

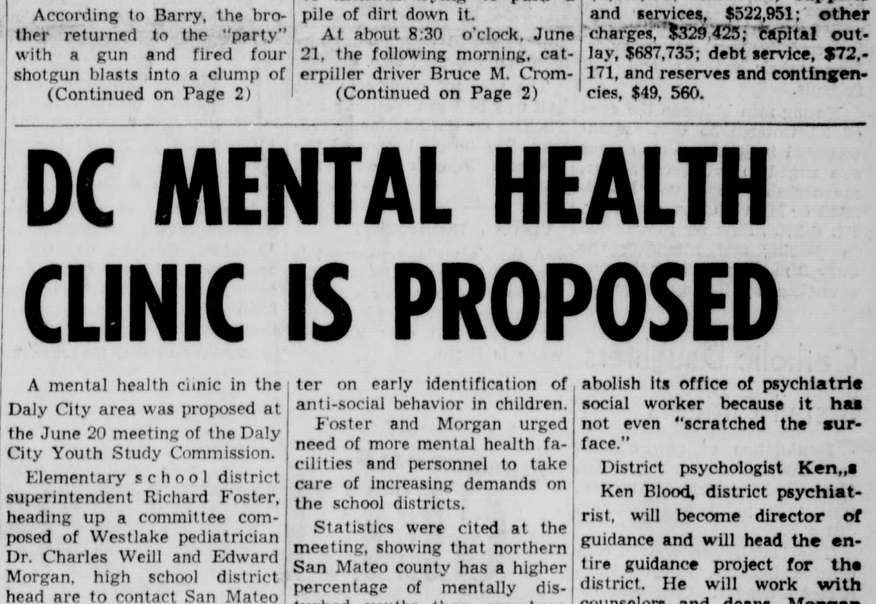
"We have a full time psychologist, but decided financially, we can't continue our program," said Morgan.

More Service

Morgan said the Jefferson Union High School district will abolish its office of psychiatric social worker because it has not even "scratched the surface."

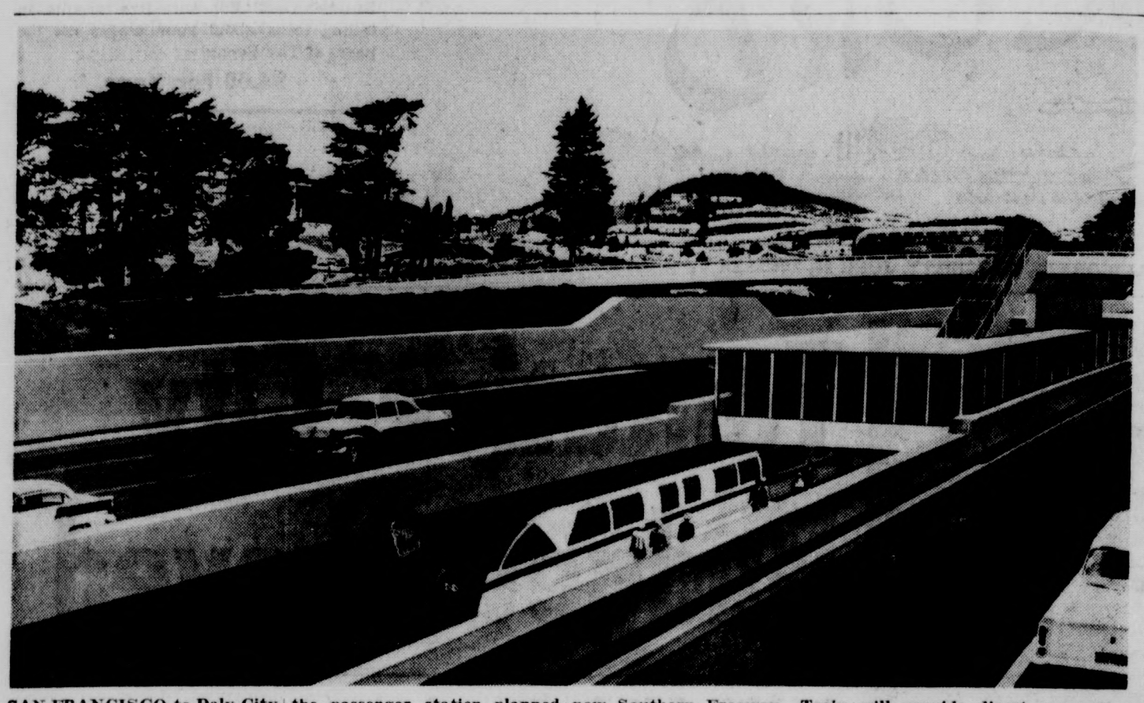
District psychologist Ken,,s Ken Blood, district psychiatrist, will become director of guidance and will head the entire guidance project for the district. He will work with counselors and deans, Morgan stated, "to serve more youngsters, more adequately.

"The youth commission hopes to bring out an awareness on the part of the general public that emotional and mental disturbances seem to be a part of this century," Morgan stated.



SERVING WESTLAKE — will be this new million-gallon capacity well near the Benjamin Franklin School. The well, under construction by the Roscoe Moss Jr. Company at a contract price of $19,000, is being installed on the school grounds through the courtesy of the school district. It will be in service in approximately 60 days and will meet increased demands for water.

Work Resumes On Jefferson HS Project



SAN FRANCISCO to Daly City—The above photo shows how rapid transit system will utilize automobile freeways. It shows the passenger station planned for Ocean avenue in San Francisco, which is to be situated within the median strip of the new Southern Freeway. Train above is en route from downtown San Francisco to Daly City. All rapid transit stations will provide direct connections to local feeder bus lines, as depicted in the illustration.

Workers were back on the job this morning at the Jefferson High School project after six weeks of inactivity due to the Contractors' Association strike.

The huge renovation project, which was idled on May 15, will resume for an indefinite period.

James E. Roberts Company, the contractor on the Jefferson project, was ordered back to work yesterday afternoon by the Associated General Contractors Association, according to a spokesman for the company.

The back-to-work call brought the resumption of construction on some 40 unfinished classrooms, the athletic field and science labs.

Work on the Westmoor project has not been hampered by the strike, and the Jefferson Union High School district trustees learned at their Monday night meeting that the project is 75 per cent complete. The contractor is confident that the additional classrooms will be ready by the September 1 deadline.

In other developments at the Monday night meeting, the trustees approved $20,000 for the improvement of Westmoor Park. The school district and the city of Daly City are engaged in the joint project of developing the park for educational and recreational facilities.

The current monies approved will be used to install an automatic sprinkler system, put in walks and build four tennis courts with the necessary fencing. Also installed will be a tan bark play area for small children.

In other action, the board approved the location of a maintenance area at Terra Nova High School. The area would be used to keep buses which service Terra Nova and Oceana high schools.

The board also approved the hiring of two new teachers, leaving only two vacancies to be filled for the coming year. Added to the English staff at Jefferson was Ross Weinert. Bertha H. Sanchez was hired by the district in the position of school nurse.

Pool Meeting

program, district and state funds cannot be used.

"The pools are not recognized by the state allocation board as a legitimate facility," Morgan said. He added that the present Jefferson High School pool was made before the ruling went into effect and that the new Terra Nova pool was financed through the five per cent civic center tax.

Morgan stated that only the money realized from the civic center tax agreement from Daly City are pro-rated and distributed to each section, so every part of the district gets an equal share.

In the Westmoor district, the money allotted to them is currently being used to develop Westmoor park into a recreation facility.

At the conclusion of the meeting the participants felt that the proposal was moving in the right direction and that enough sincere interest was shown to warrant further study.

The next scheduled meeting, which will be thrown open for the public, will be in September. At that time the committee will make it reports on its findings.

Woman Hurt On Freeway

A 43-year-old Daly City woman was injured Monday morning on the Edgemar Freeway when she attempted to avoid striking a foreign car that had pulled into her path.

Mary Ann Lewis, 309 Miriam street, Daly City, a librarian at the Terra Nova High School in Pacifica, was treated at Junipero Serra hospital for injuries suffered when an unknown black Volkswagen pulled into her path, causing her to lose control of her car when she swerved to avoid a collision.

Her daughter, the only other occupant in the vehicle, was not injured.

The California Highway Patrol said the automobile struck the curb and spun around, throwing out its occupants. The car kept going for another 50 feet, it was reported, and finally stopped on an embankment on the righ side.

The accident occurred about half way between Westlake and Pacifica on the Edgemar Freeway. The hospital reported the woman's injuries were not serious.

VISUAL EQUIPMENT

A duck's visual equipment is reported by the National Automobile Club to include a transparent membrance that the duck can pull over its eyes while in flight.

Council Jottings

The city council had plenty of business to do with dumps and sewers at a three hour council meeting Monday night.

Protests were heard during the second hearing on the 90th street assessment district. Action was tabled until the next meeting.

William Lagomarsino, 7100 Mission, protested what he called "unreasonable" plans for sewer distribution in the district.

Ed Quinlan, 88th street resident, protested a tax increase for more sewers. He said present sewers were adequate.

Andrew Baffico, 42 Beechwood drive, an owner of 24 lots in the district, spoke in favor of the district, stating that a 60 per cent majority of the residents favored the improvements.

City Manager Ed Frank said the proposed improvements are to develop better services and improve the properties in the area.

Dump Permit

After a long discussion, the council granted permission to Al Sereni, Scavenger company head, to put in a bid with the county for dumping garbage from Westborough homes on the Daly City dump.

In other action, the council:

1. Adopted a resolution whereby city police officers are denied the right to join labor unions. A department poll showed that 41 of 47 officers favored a non-union setup.
2. Approved an agreement with the Jefferson Union High School District for joint use of recreational facilities.
3. Approved the Stenmar annexation for lots 41-48, Block 10, of the "Seventy-Five Dollar" Homestead Improvement District.

The tractor slid 70 feet throwing Cromwell under the vehicle and crushing him to death. Cromwell resided at 474 Valencia street, San Francisco.

Men worked for several minutes to turn the tractor back on its treads to free Cromwell, who was pinned underneath.

A witness said Cromwell was making his first pass at the grading cutout on the edge of the cliff at 8:20 a. m. when the machine toppled over the side. It overturned twice as it plunged down the hill.

The firm is preparing an access road and parking lot at the beach in conjunction with the county and stateway highway department.

He said the next phase of the party occurred when Larry "snuck up" behind Chico Gebhardt and smashed him over the head with a shotgun.

Xavier (Red Fox) Brocks, a college student, admitted he came to the party with a knife, but dropped it when the shooting began.

The "Red Fox" said the group had brought two gallons of wine, a fifth of whiskey and a case of beer to the beach for the party. Larry, questioned earlier by deputy district attorney Wilbur Johnson on cross examination explained he "didn't want to hurt anyone at all."

Rising Incidence Of Child Abuse

During the first four months of 1962, 30 out of every 100 physically abused children died. Of these fatalities, 70 per cent were children three years of age or under.

These facts were recently revealed in the results of a nation-wide survey by the Children's Division of the American Humane Association (AHA). The survey will serve to document the rising incidence of child abuse at an AHA-sponsored workshop on the abused child, held this month in New York City.

While the figures have not yet been presented in final form, several trends have merged from the survey, according to Vincent De Francis, director of the Children's Division.

Nearly 70 per cent of the cases reported involved injuries inflicted on children by natural parents. Fewer than 20 per cent of the cases involved step-parents.

Cruelty and abuse to children is wide-spread. Reported cases came from 38 states.

Abuse to children takes many forms. The survey revealed reports of children who were severely beaten; children who were locked in dark closets; children who were scarred and blistered by burns; children with broken bones, maimed limbs, fractured skulls, and children who were killed by angry parents.

The problem of child abuse is common to families at all economic levels. It is not a problem for welfare services, but one which involves the total range of community activities in terms of health, law enforcement, and the courts. The workshop sponsored by the AHA children's division is designed to explore this problem with an emphasis on working out a co-operative approach involving these fields with an interest in children.

Invited to the workshop were delegates from national agencies representing law, medicine, law enforcement, the courts, and social services to children and families.

Where Is 'People's' Republic?

Communist countries always call themselves "people's' Republics." Back of this is the well-propagandized Marxist claim that only absolute dictatorship, in which government owns and runs practically everything, can be trusted to give the masses of people the good things of life they earn with their labor.

Well, the other day, in the Soviet Union, an order came down increasing butter and meat prices. The butter now sells for $1.83 a pound and meat for 88 cents — in a country where the average wage is under $90 a month.

Thus, a Soviet worker will have to put in about three and one-half hours at his job to earn enough money to buy a pound of butter, and an hour and a half to buy a pound of meat. In a recent year, by way of contrast, the average American factory worker earned enough in just one hour to buy three and a half pounds of butter and two and a half pounds of high-grade meat. The situation is the same for just about all the other necessities of life, to say nothing of the luxuries which are next to unknown in Russia and are commonplace here.

Where is the real "peoples' republic"?

Some Chickens!

Nowadays we talk about billions almost as if they were chicken feed. The vast growth of tax collecting and tax spending is largely responsible for that airy attitude.

Next year's federal budget, for instance, will be around 92.5 billion dollars. And one commentator has visualized its magnitude in this fashion:

Suppose you were able to authorize your wife to spend $1,000 per day, ad infinitum. It would take her 277,500 years to spend that 92.5 billion!

To come closer to earth, suppose you were a tightwad and put a meager one billion dollar ceiling on her $1,000 a day spending. It would take 3,000 years for her to run through the bankroll.

If billions seem to be chicken feed, about all one can say is: Some chickens!

The View From .. Behind The Badge

Written and Edited by Daly City Police Department

The Patrolman . . .

The beat is quiet and the currents of life are at ebb tide for the day. The neighborhood is quiescent under the policeman's watchful eye. It is in the midnight hours and only the night people are about. Occasionally a late, hurrying couple will be observed, the swain walking his girl home. Later, the young man, or some other young man, walking the street alone, may find it necessary to explain his presence to the policeman.

A taxi cab cruises by and a dog gives voice, querelously, from a back yard somewhere. At a bus stop, an elaborately gowned and coiffed women dismounts from the coach and ankles delicately over the remaining squares of pavement to her home. Bundles of newspapers thud to the sidewalk, tossed there from a passing truck. Soon the newsboys will be turning out to make their appointed rounds.

But the streets are, for the most part, empty and dark. A passable degree of illumination glimmers from the street lamps, each standing as an island in a sea of darkness. A man returning from a night shift somewhere passes the policeman as ships pass in the night. A whisp of a moon hangs in the sky, serving more as a prop or a mockery than as a giver of light. An occasional lighted window proclaims itself in the night, and but accentuates the darkness. The neighborhood shops are shuttered and silent, some with a night light burning in the empty interior.

White pedestrian crosswalk lines point the way for absent pedestrians, and silently standing street signs proclaim the thoroughfare designations for absent wayfarers. The dog gives voice no longer, but the thin wail of an infant disturbs the night stillness. Parked autos abound, and these seem to underline the silence and emptiness of the streets. A breeze hums in the overhead electric and telephone wires, and a gurgle of water whispers from a nearby sewer.

The policeman patrols his beat. The loneliness which engulfs him brings something of satisfaction, for things are under control in his baliwick. Where he patrols, there exists protection for the neighborhood, in the specific sense; in the general sense, where he patrols, is seen a symbol of repression of crime, of succor, and of the omnipresence of those who exist to protect life and property.

Right now, however, it is very quiet and the officer is alone, and a little cold. The policeman might be pardoned if his thoughts are now centered in anticipation on an enamel cup of hot coffee brew.

The officer hails a young fellow who is walking alone, and inquires as to his destination. It seems that the young man has just left his fiancee at her home—at least that is what he is claiming. The policeman eyes a smudge of lipstick upon the interogee's face and concludes that the explanation has merit. Having elicited the young man's home address, the policeman bids him goodnight, and they continue upon their respective ways.

The boy had not been particularly suspicious, but he had been walking alone at a late and unusual hour, and the officer needed to know what business he was pursuing. The officer is charged with instances occuring on his beat. He may have had in mind the series of auto strippings which had occurred over the past couple of weeks, or of last night's purse snatch, or of last week's attempted rape.

The officer notes the number and company of a cruising cab; the hack is empty, save for the driver, and is from the nerby big city, and was going in the wrong direction. Nothing too suspicious here, but the officer pursues basic, uninspired police procedures. Perhaps the sergeant will be interested in the information.

He observes an elaborately groomed woman leave a bus, and walk up the side street. Her high heels tap-tap the deserted sidewalk pavement and punctuate the stillness of the night. He knows who this one is, for she works in a downtown night-club, and returns home at this time each night, though not always by bus. Watching her, he is not unaware of her comeliness, which is actuated, some how, by the lateness of the hour. This is not the primary reason for his scrutiny, however, and he is satisfied when she turns, safely and unmolested, into her apartment building.

The policeman speaks with the newspaper truck driver; they consider, briefly, the latest international super-crisis, and then dwell at a somewhat greater length upon the standing of the Giants. Later, he will speak with the delivery boys, with whom he converses on a first-name basis.

The officer exchanges a hello with a late-returning workman, a nightly occurrence. He casts a weather eye at the moon, now receding behind clouds. It looks like rain, later; when he next calls into the station he will ask for permission to go there and obtain his raincoat from his locker.

(He mutters, cynically, at the thought of the locker. He shares this locker with two other men. It is located in an over-crowded "locker room." Also in the room are showers, toilets, and a report writing table. Profanity appears amid his mutterings, and "if 'they' don't get us a new station one of these days, I don't know what we are going to do.")

He checks his closed shops and concludes that they are each one secure. No burglaries tonight. He notes that a street light does not illumine, and the pole number of the lamp outage is duly noted in the worn notebook. He will call this in to the station later. As a matter of fact, he will be scored on this later in the month — the number of lamp outages which he reports. Light deters crime, and the department is finicky about such things.

He calls in his message by radio, and receives permission to get the raincoat after a bit (from the ramshackle, depressing, over-crowded, out-moded and so-called "locker room").

The headquarters people have no special chore for him, and he proceeds upon his rounds. Ahead, light blazons. There is the all-night coffee shop, an oasis in the black night-desert. There will be a pause, and refreshment, and sleepy conversation. And then there will be another tour of the beat.

Food For Thought

Only A Hen Can Produce Dividends Sitting Still

The 15th chapter of Luke and the fourth verse tells us about sheep lost in the wilderness and the effort of the owner to reclaim it. The word 'GO AFTER' is a phrase that is displayed in the whole of the New Testament.

You very seldom find Jesus sitting down wasting time. He did sit down when He approached the Samaritan woman, but He unfolded activities while He sat. Contrary to other religions, Christianity is a dynamic moving force. We are only a movement as long as we move and display FAITH INSPIRED activity.

The prodigal son moved, but in the wrong direction. The end of his activity brought him to a place of want. He got into life's wilderness—lost his sence of orientation and direction, and ended up in great confusion.

Life is like a wilderness where we feel the need of a guiding and directing hand. We can enjoy just that by being lead and directed by the Word of God. His brother who stayed at home is a type of a Christian that enjoys possessions. He didn't waste them in a far-off country, but he had them accumulated and stored up; thus, not using them, or putting them to work like some of the people we read of in the papers now and then.

A lonely person dies without relatives or friends. They have lived their lives in utter poverty, yes, on the verge of starvation. Searching their little abode, the police find hundreds of thousands of dollars tucked away in all kinds of impossible places. The 'homebody' brother never inquired about his brother. He didn't take the least interest in him. He was not concerned about his whereabouts. He never sent him a letter. He never took a trip to visit him. He neglected him entirely and he developed a bad inner attitude towards him.

We could write 'WASTED POSSESSIONS' over the prodigal son's life, but we could write 'NEGLECTED POSSESSIONS' over the 'homebody's' life.

SO REMEMBER only a hen can produce dividends while sitting still—your idle talents cannot.

FIRE ACTS

This article is written by Daly City Firemen and is published in this paper for the purpose of keeping the public informed about their Fire Department, its duties and associated activities.

Within the next few days we will be celebrating Independence Day. There was a time when a good many of us felt that the day wasn't complete unless we shot off the loudest and biggest firecrackers we could buy. And then the next day we would read in the newspaper about the havoc the firecrackers brought. Someone always lost a few fingers, was blinded or received severe burns, not to mention the number of fires that were caused.

Fortunately today most cities have ordinances to handle the firecracker problem. In Daly City, "Ordinance 489" prohibits the sale or igniting of fireworks within the city limits. The word "fireworks" as defined in the ordinance means any pasteboard or paper tube or similar device containing combustibles or explosives producing a noise or displaying a light. As usual, there will be some who will insist upon shooting off a few firecrackers. Let's hope they don't hurt themselves.

A few weeks ago we quoted an article to you regarding the parents' and babysitters' responsibility to children. Being what we are, we very seldom play the game according to the rules. In the April issue of "Fire News," three small paragraphs are donated to the death of 12 children. In Charleston, South Carolina, eight children were left unattended. Five of the eight died in the fire that followed while the parents were out "on the town." And in Niagara Falls, New York, seven children were left alone and all perished in a fire due to asphyxiation. The parents must certainly feel proud of themselves. However, they won't have to worry about the children being a burden on them any longer.

Last week, we mentioned that both the landlord and his tenants have a moral obligation to each other. Again, from the March isue of "Fire News," a landlord in New Brunswick, Canada, was declared by a coroner's jury guilty of neglect for failing to maintain adequate exit facilities. In this fire another five children died.

It seems as though the children always suffer because an adult is incompetent or lacks a sense of responsibility. It's tough enough growing up as it is; let's try to make it a little easier for them.

COUNTY DOINGS

by JACK WOOD

It was the wee hour of 3:45 a.m. in the morning last week that the Millbrae city council finally approved plans for a new multi-million dollar Richmond square shopping center.

A 150-member audience sat in protest during the marathon proceedings. About 20 remained until the bitter end. Objections made by the protesting individuals were that the proposed Huntington Drive should extend through the shopping center to Magnolia and not be channeled at its eastern end.

Half Moon Bay city councilmen plan to investigate the possibility of extending the southern city limits seven miles to the south.

The proposal to take in all of the southern half of the Half Moon Bay Union High school district was made by Mayor John L. Carter after the council received a proposal to annex more than 1000 acres east of the city.

Speeders had better watch out in Marian Lagoon in San Mateo. The city of San Mateo has purchased its first 17-foot outboard motorboat to police the lagoon against powerboat speeders and other hazardous activities.

San Mateo County held a first when the North San Mateo County Council of Cities Youth Advisory Commission met last week in San Bruno.

The purpose was to organize and plan a course of action related to youth problems.

Mayor Maurice Hamilton of San Bruno said that the North County Council of Cities does not feel there is a serious delinquency problem in the North County as yet.

Robert St. Clair, Daly City councilman and former mayor, said the Youth Study Committee in Daly City, which is functioning along the same lines, is not trying to solve juvenile delinquency, but intends to see what the community can do for the youth.

Among the major needs set by the group are the coordination of governmental and law enforcement agencies, recreation, churches and schools, improvement clubs and publicizing the city curfew law.

Something For Everyone

by Samuel Chandler

For many parents, every day presents a new problem in child raising.

Although no amount of reading will substitute for common sense and love, there are some books that have been prepared to guide parents and may even erase the feeling of helplessness that often plagues the average, red-blooded, frustrated parent.

Among the books in the Daly City Public Library that can help are these:

Allen Fromme. The Parents Handbook. Covers the emotional problems of children from infancy to six years.

Arnold L. Gesell. Youth: The years from 10 to 16. This is a study based on observation of a group of normal adolescents. It traces the development of behavior at home, at school, and in the community.

Emily Post. Children or people This old standby has been revised by the Emily Post Institute.

Lorine Pruette. The parent and the happy child.

Marguerite Beecher. Parents on the run. This is a book of advice on many problems related to child training.

Bonnie Prudden. Here is outline of long-range program to help solve the problems of unfitness among children.

Rudolph M. Wittenberg. Adolescence and discipline. This is a primer in mental hygiene as it applies to adolescents.

Harry R. Litchfield. Your child's care. This is a pediatric manual for mothers that answers 1001 questions about child care.

Benjamin Spock. Dr. Spock talks with mothers. Dr. Spock never wrote wiser things than those contained in this book.

Grace Langdon Bringing up children. Here is a solid test on child management.

Mary Frank. Your adolescent at home and in school.

Eleanor S. Duncan. Parent's Magazine book of baby care.

Lucille E. Hein. Enjoy your children.

Better Homes and Gardens. Better Homes and Gardens baby book.

C. Luise Miehl. Family nursing and child care Among other things, this book speaks of sick room care, sanitation, nutrition, accidents, first aid.

Mother's Encyclopedia for care and raising children.

Marguerite Bro. When children ask. Most useful approach to sex questions.

Dorothy Baruch. How to live with your teen-ager.

Isaac N. Kugelmass. Child care in body and mind.

Angelo Patri. How to help your child grow up. Though published in 1948, this volume is most useful.

Each of these books may be checked out for home use. Ask the librarians at either branch of the Daly City Public Library.

Wynschenk is associated with MONY's Leonard Stiller agency in San Francisco.

Long, Happy Commencement

Terra Nova High School's first high school commencement was a rousing success. One hundred seniors marched into the auditorium at 8 p.m. They straggled out again some 12 hours later with diplomas and memories of the longest and most unique party in Pacifica history.

In short, Pacifica's first high school senior class went out like a lion. The party, arranged and promoted by PTA members and parents wore out just about everybody.

Sue Damon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Damon, 6 Village lane, Colma, was recently elected to the student government of Chico State College.

Miss Damon will serve during the 1962-63 school year as a divisional representative, and will be a member of the board of control, the students' lawmaking body.

The BOC controls all the activities of the associated students at Chicago State College, an organization that in the next two years will do a million dollars worth of business.

Begonias

The purchase of tuberous begonias is an investment that yields color not only this summer but for several summers to come if you save the tubers after bloom is gone. Use begonias in pots or in the ground and either way plant enough for a gaudy efect. Use leafmold aplenty in the potting mix or in the ground when you plant. Stake the plants with slender bamboo stakes (available in any C.N.A. nursery) and feed them at two or three week intervals with liquid fish.

From A Feminine Viewpoint...

By Mona Baker

"I want to sit in front"—hand in hand, little boys in blue jeans, little girls in bouffant cottons. It was a full house when the first "story hour" was held last Wednesday morning at the Daly City Library.

We tiptoed in hoping not to disturb the hushed audience. We need not have worried. They didn't even notice that we were there. They sat enthralled in their little chairs as children's librarian Rose Marie Kraus began the story session with the book "The Tiger Hunt."

Although quiet while she told the story, the children were eager to ask questions and make personal comments.

A story hour is a delightful way to introduce youngsters to that "magic world of books." For the summer months, picture-book, story-hour will be held at the Westlake Library, 275 Southgate Avenue, every Wednesday morning at 10:30 for youngsters ages three through eight.

Another dedicated community worker is our nominee for this week's community leader. She many times has given a helping hand to her neighbors.

A resident of the area for thirteen years, she has served in many community organizations. Twice she served as president of Benjamin Franklin PTA and next year will be vice-president of Westmoor PTA. She has several times been membership chairman of one of the PTA's and after one of her membership "pep talks" at a meeting, she signs up practically everyone at the meeting.

She has been active in women and youth groups of the Westlake Community Baptist Church where her husband was charter founding pastor for eight years. She is now working with the youth groups of the First Baptist Church of San Francisco. Assisting in all the many community drives that are conducted in the area, she also gives one afternoon a week as a volunteer at San Francisco General Hospital.

Our community leader this week is Esther Milam who lives with her husband and two youngsters at 35 Garden Drive in Westlake.

SOCIAL WHIRL: One of the most important social events of the summer season was last Saturday night's dance and buffet at Westlake Bowl celebrating the opening of the annual Daly City Police Athletic League Tournament.

Celebrating too were Margaret and Dick Thomas who held an invitational open house recently at their new home located at 830 Reina Del Mar in Pacifica. The decor of the home is Early American.

With many Colma and Daly City friends in attendance it was a "Bon Voyage" party in the Promenade Ballroom aboard the Lurline for Louis and Jackie De Salvatori who left for a two week's vacation in Hawaii. A week earlier Jackie was also guest-of-honor at a luncheon held at Angela Serini's home.

VACATIONS: Just back from a fun vacation are Elaine Wolf and six-year-old son "Peter Wolf" who had a wonderful time visiting in Southern California. A highlight of the trip was their visit to Disneyland which Elaine reported was "one of the most refreshing and suitable kinds of entertainment for both adults and children that I've ever been to."

Weekending at a summer home at Clear Lake are Grace and Mike Luzzie and four youngsters and Bruno and Larrie Belotti and three youngsters. Vacationing in Lake County are Mr. and Mrs. Chris Pallos and four youngsters.

Just back from attending a special Navy Conference in Newport, Rhode Island, is Jim Grealish who is a Commander in the Naval Reserve. In attendance were regular navy officers as well as reserve officers and civilians. Speaking before the meeting were many leading government officials including Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg and Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Anderson.

Leaving next week for Oregon are Sarah and Roy Toews and youngsters for a vacation in the northwest. Also planning a July vacation at Lake Highlands are Ann and Lewis Johnson and daughter Cindy Lou.

WEDDINGS: Now Mrs. Earl Sibbach is Florence O'Neill who was married Friday evening, (June 15) at St. Luke's Lutheran Church in Reno. She was feted two weeks earlier at a shower held at New Cypress Hills Country Club.

Evelyn Goldkuhl and her daughter, Nancy Eller, were hostesses at a bathroom shower last week honoring Mrs. Goldkuhl's niece, Geri Stone who plans an August wedding. The beautifully appointed luncheon was held at Sai Wu Gardens. Among the guests was the well-known author of Herb Cook books, Erma Mazza and Berkeley's first councilwomen, Mrs. Gerald Whittaker.

NEWS BRIEFS: Planning firework celebration for the coming holiday? The American Legion and Auxiliary, Broadmoor Post 824, will be selling fireworks at the intersection of Skyline and San Bruno Avenue.

Visiting her Aunt and Uncle Velma and Laurence Yule is their niece, Lorna, from Great Falls Montana.

Scheduled for June 28, 29, and 30 is San Francisco State College first production of its Summer Play Festival "Athens to Broadway."

FASHION HINTS: Have you seen the gay assortment of sun hats this year? They come in all shapes, sizes and colors. In looking over the wide choice we suddenly had an idea. Why not let your imagination run wild and have fun creating your own sun hat.

Select a basic straw in a shape you like but without any ornamentation. Then trim it.

The sky is the limit! Maybe you have a hobby of collecting charms for bracelets. Why not tack them on your hat instead?

Like feathers—tack them on your sun hat. Wonderful way to match your printed capris—tie a scarf of the same material around your hat.

Visit your nearest variety store and see all the little gadgets that you can clip on your hat.

We'll guarantee your "fun sun hat" will be the talk of the beach and you'll have the satisfaction of knowing that the hat is your own creation.

IMPORTANT COMING SOCIAL DATE: Do mark down September 13 on your calendar when one of the most important social events of the season will be held. Holy Angels Women's Guild has planned a house tour followed by luncheon and tea. Among the beautiful homes to be shown are the Stanghelini, Nannini, Bocci Sr. and Berlin residences.

REMINDER: Don't forget if you have any news items or "social tidbits" that you feel would fit in this column mail to: "From a Femine Viewpoint" c/o Marchbanks Publications, 3317 San Jose Avenue, Daly City.

BEATING THE HEAT—As the temperature climbed up into the 90's in Westlake last week, residents who found a cool place were lucky. These Coronado apartments residents look like they have the answer.

There will be no activities for the pack this summer, but meetings will be resumed in the fall, the first meeting scheduled for September 20 at Fernando Rivera School.

SM County Cancer Society Hopes To Inform Public

The San Mateo County branch of the American Cancer Society announced last week that it hopes its public education campaign against cancer of the colon and the rectum will produce results similar to those of earlier campaigns aganst breast and uterine cancer.

"Survival rates for cancers of the breast and uterine cervix have risen because of increased public knowledge about the disease and means of early detection and treatment," Dr. Alvin S. Natanson, chairman of the education committee, said.

"We believe a similar education program for cancer of the colon and rectum can help to reduce the current 40,000 a year death rate for this disease," he explained.

Dr. Natanson said the public education program will include a film entitled "Life Story," which is now being shown to adult groups through the society's San Mateo County branch. Educational literature about colon and rectum cancer will be distributed by the branch, and press, radio and television support of the life-saving information campaign also will be sought.

"The program to inform the general public about cancer of the rectum and colon has the support of the state and local medical associations," he said. "It is part of a nation-wide drive by the American Cancer Society to increase public awareness of this disease, which kills more men and women than any other form of cancer."

"We want to realize the full potentiality of the disease's high curability rate," he stated.

Dr. Nathanson pointed out that more than a million women have seen the American Cancer Society's classic documentary film on "Breast Self-Examination," and the film has been credited with saving many lives.

Similarly, the society's educational programs about uterine cancer have helped to win public acceptance of the "Pap smear" technique for early detection of this form of the disease. The cure rate has been doubled in 25 years.

The society is also conducting an educational campaign against lung cancer. Progress has been slower, but the public has become aware of the relationship between cigarette smoking and cancer of the lung. This is a start toward bringing the lung cancer death rate down.

Dance Program At Mormon Church

by SAMUEL CHANDLER

On June 29th at 7:30 p.m. fifty or sixty boys and girls will dance in revue upon the stage in the "Mormon" church at the corner of Hillside and Brunswick in Daly City.

They are the students of Mrs. Kathleen Hennesse of 155 Rice Street. For over a year they have met in groups on Saturday mornings. "They are lovely children," Mrs. Hennesse said, "and they come from all faiths and from all parts of Daly City, from Broadmoor, from Colma and a few from San Francisco."

During this revue, the children will sing and dance and do acrobatics. Among the special numbers will be "Strolling Through The Park One Day," "We May Not Be Professionals," "Hawaiian Hula," "The Parasol Dance," "The Spread Eagle." Accompanist is Mrs. Helen Jeppson.

As your reporter watched last Saturday's practice a little girl with blond curls and sparkling eyes danced up to him. "Tell everybody to come see us," she whispered, "It'll be a lot more fun if there's a big crowd to see what we have learned."

Mrs. Hennesse said that ever since she stopped dancing professionally, she has wanted to teach the basic dance steps to children. She conceived her dance school as a means of helping "the Mormon" in Daly City pay off the indebtedness on its chapel. The children pay fifty cents a lesson, and lessons are given each Saturday morning. The children planned this revue, "she said as a benefit and are asking for a donation from all who attend."

Classes will continue every Saturday. All children are invited to join. Classes run from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Instructor Kathleen Hennessee holds Roberta Vaden in perfect balance during dance routine.

Last Saturday night, the fourth annual Daly City Police Athletic League bowling tournament opened at the Westlake Bowl.

Many people take the complacent attitude toward such fund-raising affairs because there seems to be an over-abundance of them around. Whichever way you turn nowadays somebody is waiting with outstretched palms for the hard-earned dollar. Most are for worthy causes but it does get a little tiresome reaching down into the well-worn pocket.

This is not the case with the tournament now going on at the Westlake Bowl. The PAL tournament benefits our youths, your youths and indirectly benefits the entire community.

The profits from the affair will be used to interest the youths of Daly City in worthwhile activities such as baseball, football and basketball. These activities are not only constructive for the future citizens but serve to keep idle minds from wandering into mischievious and malicious enterprises.

This summer, more than 520 youths are engaged in PAL activities, and the police department hopes to interest even more youths for the coming year.

Keeping youths occupied in this age of automation and leisure is one of the major problems of the generation. The complexities and diverse pressures of society force the youth to identify himself with some group. Often he takes the wrong path, and before he realizes it, has succumbed to the conformities of destructive delinquency.

The PAL activities takes the youth and sets him in the correct atmosphere. He gains a healthy competitive attitude and incurs a respect for the institutions in society.

So it is the citizens of Daly City who come out winners in the long run. The PAL program acts as a deterent to crime, which benefits the entire community.

So if you feel like bowling a line or two during the next five weeks, we suggest that you wander down to Westlake Bowl and enter the PAL tournament. The extra cost is almost negligible; you will get rid of some of the flab around the middle, and, who knows, you might win a prize. Either way you look at this, you come out a winner by participating — and so does Daly City.

The Daly City fire laddies have issued a warning to all Daly City residents that fireworks, of all types, are illegal within the city limits.

This includes sparklers, Vesuvius fountains, sparkling cones and all varieties of lawn fireworks which are sold at stands around the North County area.

The fire department wishes to warn the populace about buying these types of Fourth of July entertainment, which are legal in other parts of San Mateo county, but not in Daly City.

"Technically, a person is subject to arrest for firing a cap pistol," says battalion chief Frank Specht.

The department of parks and recreation is asking for a $6,000 increase in the budget this year. The vastly expanding Daly City area has been enhanced by the addition of two new recreation club houses — Lincoln Park and Westmoor Park. The addition to the budget will be used to staff the new parks with full-time recreation supervision.

Those Alcatraz cons weren't the only ones who used their ingenuity to break-out. Last week at the meeting on the fund-raising proposal for a Westmoor swimming pool, held at the Jefferson Union High School District office in Westlake, several local citizens found themselves locked in the building at the conclusion of the meeting.

Among those incarcerated were school superintendents Ed Morgan and Dick Foster, councilman Michael DeBernardi, recreation director Chuck Vincent and city manager Ed Frank.

Unable to find any sharpened spoons to tunnel out, they took the next alternative. Frank telephoned the Daly City police and the group was officially released.

Automatic Controls With Rapid Transit

The Bay Area's rapid transit system will utilize automatic controls to a greater degree than ever before attempted in the field of public transportation.

Every movement of the fast new electric trains will be governed by a centrally-located electronic computer, specially designed and equipped with safety controls that will make accidents impossible.

A similar computer mechanism will operate the network's fare collection system. It will permit travelers to use a coded credit card as well as the usual cash fares, thereby eliminating much of the time and inconvenience normally required at passenger stations.

Credit Card

The individual passenger will merely insert his credit card in a slot at the turnstile when entering and leaving the station. His total mileage will be tabulated automatically, and he will be billed at the end of each month. Cash fares also will be collected automatically.

These automatic control features are among the many technological developments incorporated in the Bay Area's rapid transit plan by the joint engineering consultants to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

The firms — Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade & Douglas of New York, and the Bechtel Corporation and Tudor Engineering Company of San Francisco —presented details of the engineering plan in their report submitted to the BARTD board of directors.

It calls for a 75-mile network of modern rail transit lines, designed to serve more than 30 cities and communities in Alameda, Contra Costa and San Francisco counties.

The entire system, the consultants said, was designed under the modern concept that it must compete effectively with the private automobile if it is to attract thousands of peak hour commuters from the streets and freeways. Its routes were planned to facilitate future extensions into other cities and counties.

Top Speeds

The network will include 16 miles of subways and tunnels, 31 miles of attractive congestion-free aerial lines, 24 miles of exclusive, grade-separated surface lines, and a four-mile underwater trans-Bay tube which will carry passengers between downtown Oakland and downtown San Francisco in only eight minutes.

The automatically-controlled trains will operate at top speeds of more than 70 miles an hour, and at average speeds — including station stops — of 50 miles an hour.

They will be scheduled as frequently as every 90 seconds during peak hours, and no farther apart than every 15 minutes during the balance of the day—so frequently that printed timetables will be unnecessary.

Streamlined in design, the trains will be of stainless steel and aluminum construction.

They will be lighter in weight than any mass transit trains yet placed in operation.

More than two years of study were devoted by the consultants toward assuring that the system's design will provide for maximum passenger comfort and convenience, as well as efficiency and economy of operation.

Hundreds of manufacturers and designers were consulted, including aircraft, electrical, and electronics firms, railroad equipment producers, and the various designers of "monorail" systems.

The engineering consultants said their plans are based on minimum standards that require the trains to possess smooth riding qualities, effective temperature controls, adequate ventialtion, and low internal and external noise levels.

37 Stations

All facilities are required also to be esthetically acceptable.

Every transit line will be capable of carrying 30,000 seated passengers per hour in each direction.

The 37 passenger stations on the system—of which 23 will be equipped with automobile parking facilities—have been spaced so as to provide for a maximum of speed, and yet at the same time convenient access for as many residents as possible throughout the three-county area.

Downtown subways will be located in San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley, areas where the high degree of urban development does not permit construction of aerial or surface lines.

"The regional system must penetrate the major centers of business and commerce close to the ultimate destination of travelers to those centers," the engineering report noted.

All subways will contain a separate upper level for stations and pedestrian use, as well as for possible underground entrances to shops and stores.

The San Francisco subway will begin at the Ferry building, where it connects with the trans-Bay tube. It will follow Market street to Van Ness avenue, where it will branch off along Mission street to 30th street.

Underground stations will be located at Montgomery street, Powell street, Civic Center, 16th street and 24th street.

After leaving the Mission district, the line will rise to the surface in the median strip of the new Southern Freeway, then continue to its terminus at Daly City. Additional stations will be located at Bosworth street, Ocean avenue and Daly City.

Streetcar Subway

An upper level of the Market Street rapid transit subway will be provided initially for the existing streetcars of San Francisco's Municipal Railway. The streetcar subway will be extended beyond Van Ness Avenue to provide additional underground service to St. Francis Circle.

Thus the travel times for existing streetcar lines will be reduced by as much as ten minutes due to their removal from street congestion.

The three East Bay lines will branch out from Oakand—one north to Richmond, another east to Concord, and the third south to Fremont.

The Oakland subway will follow Broadway, with stations planned for 11th street and 19th Street. Continuing northward, the line will emerge in the median strip of the new Grove-Shafter Freeway and continue past MacArthur boulevard.

There the line would split, with one line continuing northward to Berkeley, El Cerrito and Richmond, and the other branching eastward through the Berkeley Hills to stations at Orinda, Lafayette, Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill and Concord.

The southern East Bay line would leave Oakland along Eighth street, then join the Western Pacific Railroad right-of-way and continue to stations at San Leandro, San Lorenzo, Hayward, Alquire road, Union City and Fremont.

According to the engineering report, the entire system would require 8½ years to construct, though major portions would be in operation within five years.

Total cost of construction is estimated at $790,493,000 of which nearly one-fourth is allowed for possible contingencies and inflationary costs. This figure does not include the $133 million needed to construct the trans-Bay rapid transit tube, which will be provided from surplus Bay Bridge tolls.

Coed Returns From Program At Davis U.C.

A Jefferson High School junior returned yesterday from "Girls' State," an educational program held at the University of California campus at Davis.

The student, Uliana Malaspina, joined more than 500 girls from other high schools throughout the state in the program, annually sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary for girls to learn citizenship and to promote better interest in government.

Miss Malaspina said the experience was "most wonderful" and that she enjoyed the opportunity to make new friends as well as to exchange ideas.

The program, which began on Monday, June 18, included lectures every day. The girls set up their own city, county and state governments under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Sarrand, program director.

Girls are chosen to participate in this program on the basis of outstanding scholarship, leadership and interest in government. Only one girl is chosen from each high school in California.

Local sponsors of Miss Malaspina were Mrs. Virginia Pahlka of the Daly City unit and Mrs. William Harris of the Brisbane unit.

Roses

The productivity of roses in late summer and fall is affected by the amount of water and feeding they receive now. The rose planting should never be allowed to dry out, for the practice of giving them a summer rest has long since been disproven. Maintain a steady growth through regular watering feeding and protect that new growth from pests or plague by spraying at predetermined intervals.

Society For Crippled Eliminates Confusion

Hereafter, it's the "Society for Crippled Children and Adults of San Mateo County" instead of San Mateo County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

The change in name, approved by the Board of Directors, was made to clarify to the public that the work of the group is a voluntary agency supported by contributions and the sale of Easter Seals and is not a tax supported county agency.

"Many people were confused by the fact that we used San Mateo County as the first words of our name," declared St. George Lafitte, Menlo Park, president, "And we hope that the change will make it clear."

Following the name will always be the descriptive line, "The Easter Seal Society," as major funds raised for support of the Rehabilitation and Research Center at 1764 Marco Polo Way, Burlingame, are through sale of Easter Seals each year.

Expansion of the Center is now under way to care for many more of the 14,386 handicapped citizens of San Mateo County.

By GARRY NIVER

We have often wondered how the people of the Bay Area would react if the Giants won the National League pennant or the 49ers won the NFL football title. We are not saying that this will happen, but you never know, accidents occur once in a while.

The Giants currently have a slight chance, though we are inclined to prognosticate that by the time the glorious month of September rolls around, Big Daddy Horace and his boys will be trying desperately to make an amicable settlement for third place.

But don't let our pessimism daunt your dreams—anything is possible — even when it concerns the Giants.

As for the 49ers, we tend to lean towards them with a little more enthusiasm. Maybe it is that their players are bigger or that the beer at Kezar is a little more potent than that at Candlestick. We have been known to put a wager or two down on the Niners in the past.

Anyway, back to our original statement. "How would the people of the Bay Area react?" Would they all go out and get drunk, dancing and singing their way through the streets? That is the usual traditional procedure when some city wins a major sports title.

But San Francisco and its outlying areas, known for its international flavor, unconforming citizens and liberal views, might take the unique approach to such a situation.

The so-called intellectual set of Tiburon and Sausalito, who despise television and worship books, frown on morality and dig promiscuous playmates, might look down upon such a very low brow scene as a pennant, and start up a petition to remove the Giants and turn Candlestick Park into an art gallery.

The tired Peninsula commuter, who travels into San Francisco to work five days per week, and settles in his little tract home to rest the other two, would probably take a much different approach. He might phone the wife, tell her he was not coming home, and using the pennant victory as a rationalization, go on a two-day binge and sell his tract home.

The dedicated sports addict, and there are plenty of them about, would become overly excited, and put a "Dark for Governor" bumper strip on his auto. His children would immediately be nicknamed "Orlando," "Willie" or "Harvie," regardless of sex, and he would spend the vacation money on world series tickets.

This is purely speculative, but it could happen that way . . . if San Francisco ever gets a first rate winner.

Westmoor Legion Team Invades Orange Park

Westmoor's American Legion baseball team, coached by Rod Losberger, invades South San Francisco's Orange Park this weekend for a two-game series with the SSF nine.

The regular league game will be played Saturday at 2 p. m., with a practice game being played Sunday at the same hour.

In Sunday's action, the Westmoor Legionmen grabbed a double-header from the strong El Camino team. In the morning encounter, the locals, behind the superb mound duty of Gary Davis, bested the Camino team, 6-4.

The big blow of the first game was a two-run single in the second inning by Bill Waite.

In the second game, Big Dave Williams out-dueled Camino's ace, Hal Westmoreland, for an 8-7 victory. Williams quelled all thoughts of a Camino rally by setting down, in order, the final ten men to face him.

Trailing, 7-1, in the sixth, the victory bounced back for seven runs in the final three innings. Steve Payette's long double and Williams' booming triple in the seventh were responsible for two runs.

In the ninth, with the score tied at 7-7, Westmoor's Gary Mandoza walked, Mike Krnich was hit by a pitched ball, and Williams singled deeply to center.

With the bags loaded, Payette laid down a suicide squeeze bunt, bringing Mendoza home with the winning run.

OLM NEARS JUNIOR LEAGUE TITLE

NATIONAL DIVISION

Jim Davis' OLM team looks like they have the crown cinched in the National Division following an 11-inning tie with the PAL Tigers. Duane Morin of OLM and Sam Thomas of the Tigers both turned in great performances but an equal share of the credit goes to Davis, Thompson, Scannel, Lawson, Rossi, Fraher, Albert, Box and Becker of OLM and Kosturas, M. Jones, T. Jones, La Rosa, Frank, Schmidt, Banos, Black, Sabuco, Stroller and Blandini of the Tigers for what both coaches called the finest game ever played in Daly City.

OLM squeezed by the PAL Cubs earlier in the week 8-7. With two out in the last inning and four runs down, OLM rallied for five runs rally to take the game. Jim Davis Jr., Dan Sconnel, Duane Morin and Frank Lawson all contributed. Pacini of the PAL Cubs was described as a one man gang by the OLM coach. He hit 2 for 2, scored three runs and drew in three runs.

All Hallows pitcher Gregory outlasted Skyline Plaza team 6-2. The game was even till the 5th when Blaney developed trouble finding the plate and five quick runs were scored.

Alan Stanley pitched a shutout for the PAL Tigers over St. Cecilias. This brings Stanley's pitching record with PAL to 39 wins against 4 losses. Bob Banos hit 2 for 3 and Telvis Jones hit a triple.

OLPH made the win column at the expense of BYA Flying A, 5-4. Ripper Reese highlighted the game with a smashing double over the center fielder's head that scored Mike Parodi from 2nd. John Carroll gave up a meager three hits to pace BYA.

All Hallows, behind Luther Gregory's pitching, downed the PAL Cubs 9-4.

Skyline Plaza shook off their previous defeats and upset OLPH 18-8. Phelps, Webber and Berry all hit 2 for 3.

The PAL Tigers avenged their previous defeat by All Hallows as they nailed them 9-3. Telvis Jones, Sam Thomas and Alan Stanley shared pitching chores allowing only two hits. Jones smashed a double with the bases loaded, and Ron La Rosa also doubled with two aboard.

The Holy Angels Shamrocks downed St. Cecilia's 8-0 and league leading OLM 3-1. In the St. Cecilia's game, it was Shamrock ace Rocky Collins chalking up a no-hit shutout for the Shamrocks' seventh straight win. Bob Wallace saved Collins' no-hitter with a great play. Collins, Mike Gallagher and Grey Kraljev got 2 for 4. The Shamrocks called on Craig De Mello to face Jim Davis in the OLM game. De Mello came through, allowing OLM only four hits to Davis' six for the Shamrocks. Glenn Dennis accounted for the big double that Parkmerced dropped another close one to New Pisa, 3-2. Joe Richmond refused to let anyone but Bobbie Bool connect with the baseball in his one-hitter. Frank Kitchener's home run made the difference.

Marchant Leads Constables

Les Bastedo's PAL Yankees chalked up a couple this week, 15-6 over OLPH and 6-5 over the Lions. Garibaldi, in his fourth win, came up with a two-hitter against OLPH, while Provengale hit three for four.

Misracks made a bid for honors this week as they took on the second-place PAL Redsox. When the dust cleared, the Redsox and Misracksmen were tied, 8-8, in a game called because of darkness. This game will be played over.

Steve Back of BYA Bender Roofing was named hero of the week by his coach, Sam Mannina. He chucked a three-hitter against OLPH in a 12-3 win, then returned later in the week with a no-hit shutout against the Holy Angels Lions. Back hit a single, a double and a home run in the game. Joel Carrara of Bender Roofing hit a grand-slam homer and a triple with two men aboard to help in the 20-0 win over the vacation-riddled Holy Angels Lions.

The PAL Giants threw a real scare into the BYA Forresters. Winless in league play, the Giants fought all the way and forced Wayne Walorinta to go seven innings to pull the game out of the fire. With a man on first and second, Gary Solary batted in the winning run for the Forresters 2-1 win. Rourk singled in Harrison for the Giants' run.

WESTERN DIVISION

Parkmerced made their bid for the first place in the Western Division by dropping the PAL Indians, 6-2. Once again it was Bill Frahm on the mound for Parkmerced. Big Eddie Nathan, star infielder for Parkmerced, garnered two hits to help out.

200 MPH Dragster To Be Featured At HMB

Directors of the Half Moon Bay Drag Strip announced last week that the drag racing season will be highlighted at Half Moon Bay Drag Strip July 7 and 8 by the only California appearance of the world speed record holder for four consecutive years, Don Garlits from Tampa, Florida.

In a fantistic Saturday night meet Garlits, with driver Connie Swingle, will pit his supercharged Chrysler dragster "Swamp Rat III," clocked at 200 mph down the one-quarter mile, against the nation's fastest dragsters.

Both days, Saturday and Sunday, he will attempt to better his own world speed record and match speeds with other nationally known dragsters like the California State Champion of 1962, the Champion Speed Special from South San Francisco.

Entries for this event have already been received from all over Northern California and it looks like it will be one of the biggest array of dragsters and competition cars ever to compete in Northern California.

BF Physical Fitness Program Continues

Benjamin Franklin School's physical fitness program will continue through the summer for the benefit of Daly City youngsters.

The program is run in four levels of fitness, with each stage designated by a color. Assignment to the specific group is based on straight-forward objective fitness tests.

The beginning level is white, the second level is blue, the third is red, and the highest level is gold. The color groups have worked to give the youth incentive in attaining a higher group through vigorous training and conditioning.

In tests held six weeks ago, of all the seventh and eighth grade youths tested, 80 per cent of them were in the beginning white classification. In last week's re-test, 45 per cent of the youths placed in the red, blue or gold category.

During the summer the program will be held twice weekly, on Mondays and Wednesdays, from 2 to 4 p. m. at the playground.

The regular school fitness program will be resumed in September in the physical education classes at the school.

The Builders scored the winning runs in the top half of the fifth inning to take a 7-5 lead, and held on as Misrack's 7th inning, one-run rally fell short. It's SPARE TIME at Westlake Bowl

By JIM GREALISH

The biggest squad in bowling history took to the lanes last Saturday night to kick off the Fourth Annual Daly City Police Athletic League Benefit Bowling Tournament. Well over 200 friends of PAL were on hand to help Co-chairmen Pat Garcia and Al Stagnaro on their way to the goal of $8,000.00 for youth programs in Daly City. The tournament will continue until August 5.

The Westlake Knolls League produced the Bowler of the Week as Rich Hartje shot a big 256 game and 642 series to take high honors for the week.

In the Westlake Classic Wally Swartz was the high roller with a big 257 game and a 633 series. Daly City policeman and PAL Coach Rich Brewer took second place honors with a 213 game and 609 series.

A new talent was uncovered in the Southgate Mixed Fives last week as Nelson Trinch registered a 613 series on games of 180-221 and 212.

Bowlers from all parts of Northern California will invade Westlake from July 7 to 22 to compete in the First Annual Northern California Mixed Fours Championship. With teams of two men and two ladies, there will be $3,750 in cash prizes distributed. Entries close July 5 for this first of what will become an annual event.

The Daly City Employees League continues to produce some high scores. Last week Ed Runne stole the show with 225 and 597 while Arelen Keough was the leading lady with 168 and 475.

Skipp Wong was once again the spark in the Westinghouse Trio League as he posted a 192 game and 530 series.

There will be some fine bowling on exhibition at Westlake next weekend as the local finals of the Gold Coast Classic will be held Saturday and Sunday. One hundred twenty-eight qualifiers will compete for the cash prizes plus the opportunity to participate in the Grand Finals in Reno next month.

If Art Krause had not taken a rest during his second game, he undoubtedly would now be the holder of the highest four game series in Westlake history. Starting with a 245 game, he dropped to 157 in his second effort, then returned to form with 245 and 196 for an 843 total.

In the Kings and Queens League, the competition was keen between the sexes as Ruth Noll shot a high game of 236 and series of 578 while P. B. Witt upheld the honor of the men with 225 and 579.

A first time leader in the B'nai B'rith League was Leo Soss who posted a 208 game and 583 series.

The Second Annual Family Doubles is off to a good start. With wight separate classes, there is plenty of opportunity for all members of the family to compete, especially since it is not necessary that both members of the team be league bowlers.

Once again the Junior bowlers will be in the limelight from July 2 to August 10 as Coach Dick Truesdell will hold the Third Annual Westlake Junior Championships. With squads at 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, there will be plenty of opportunity to compete.

NorCal Baseball School Termed Huge Success

The Northern California baseball school made its third annual visit to Daly City last Friday and was greeted by a record breaking turn-out of 200 youngsters.

The famed school, whose Daly City visit was sponsored by the Daly City recreation department, instructed and supervised the youths in all of the facets of baseball.

Heading the list of six instructors was Eddie Joost, former Cincinnati Redleg star and San Francisco Seals' coach. Joost was ably assisted by Con Dempsey, former Phillie and Seals hurler; Joe Sprinz, former "Iron-Man" catcher of the SF Seals and Cleveland Indian coach; Bob Fatjo, head baseball coach at San Jose's Bellarmine Prep; and San Francisco's famed prep coach, Milt Axt of Poly high school.

Assisting the school were Bob Brown and Dave Ashworth of the Daly City Recreation department. The overall supervision was directed by Charles Vincent, Daly City Recreation Director, with assistance from Bob Blevins.

"It was the most successful baseball school to date," said Vincent. "Many a youth went home Friday, happy and well instructed," he concluded.

New Hunting Licenses Required After July 1

New hunting licenses for the 1962 hunting seasons will be required starting July 1, and are now available from license agents throughout the state, reports the Department of Fish and Game. The new licenses will be good through June 30, 1963.

Hunters will probably be startled when they buy the licenses this year because of a new method of issuing licenses. The agent will hand them the new "self issuing" license application to fill out. Instead of having the license agent fill out the form, the hunter will do it himself. Then, when the agent puts the appropriate stamp on the application, it becomes the hunting license.

The new self issuing method was devised to save time for the agent and hunter when the license is issued, and to save expense in the printing of licenses.

The resident license fee is still $4, and the resident junior fee is $1.

Entomological Society Holds Conclave In SM

The up-to-the-minute word on man's battle with the insect world will be heard June 26, 27 and 28, when members of the Pacific Branch of the Entomological Society of America gather at the Villa Hotel in San Mateo for their 46th annual meeting.

A highlight of the three-day gathering will be a special public presentation at 8 p.m. Tuesday of "Hidden Art in Nature," by Stennett S. Heaton of Oakland. The general public will be welcomed at the showing of Heaton's color slides, and also the society's seventh annual photo salon, in the Pacifica Room of the hotel, said Dr. Ray F. Smith, Pacific branch chairman.

Dr. Smith, chairman of the University of California Department of Entomology and Parasitology at Berkeley and Davis, said between 350 and 400 scientists in his field are expected for the meeting. They will come from the western states, including Montana, Arizona and Hawaii; from British Columbia and Alberta, Canada; and Sonora and Baja California, Mexico.

Entomologists from these areas of three nations, and a few from the eastern United States, began arriving at San Mateo Monday afternoon, June 25. Dr. Smith opened the first session at 9 a.m. Tuesday. The opening program included an address, "A Half Century's Progress in Plant Quarantine," by Ralph W. Sherman, USDA Plant Quarantine Service, Washington, D.C., and an invitational paper, "Agricultural Research at the 100th Anniversary of the Land-Grant Colleges," by University Dean of Agriculture Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., of the University of California.

More than 70 scientific papers covering new entomological research will be presented during the three-day meeting.

Dog Owners Are Doggin' It

San Francisco dog owners seem to be slower this year in obtaining the new 1962-63 licenses their dogs are required to sport by July 1.

According to Tax Collector Basil Healy, less than half of the 30,000 metal tags he sells each year in behalf of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have been distributed—at the usual $3 per tag cost.

Healey urged all owners to mail their $3 license fee to Room 105 City Hall, by 5 p.m., June 29, the deadline date for renewal.

Fast Movies Aid Automotive Research

The purring power of that motor under the hood of your car is pretty much a matter of lightning-fast explosions and lightning-fast mechanical movements, points out the National Automobile Club.

Unable to catch these explosions and movements with the unaided eye, yet curious to find out the details of just what goes on, automotive engineers make use of motion-picture cameras that can take as many as 10,000 pictures in a single second.

When they make some 3,000 pictures in a single second of gasoline exploding in a combustion chamber, engine valves or vibrator points operating, or springs bouncing back and forth under the sudden impact of a rut in the road, then project these pictures at the regular rate of 16 per second, they can sit back in ease and watch these things pass before them in the slowest of slow motion.

The knowledge that the engineers gain from all this they put to good use in the designing of more efficient motors and more comfortable motor cars.

Pacifica Tax Levy Is Asked

Pacifica City Manager Karl Baldwin has recommended a 15-cent tax levy boost to take care of salary increases and increased services.

The $1,214,500 1962-63 budget, included an eight per cent increase for most employes to bring their salaries "up to an average" of other nearby cities. It also included eight new positions.

Baldwin said 75 to 80 per cent of the additional cost was due to salary boosts.

2 Boys Find Strongbox

A strongbox containing $1,925 in bonds was found Sunday on the beach at Pacifica, near Pedro Point, by two 14-year-old boys.

Pacifica police said the box, taken in a burglarly Saturday from the 442 South Van Ness avenue apartment of Richard J. Shrugue, was found by Manuel Alvarez and Manuel Coronel of El Paso, Tex., who were visiting friends in Pacifica.

Missing was $700 in cash, 110 shares of Socony Oil Company stock, a .22 caliber automatic and a .22 caliber revolver which Shugrue said was in the strongbox.

Crabgrass

Crabgrass is an unsightly nuisance which should be uprooted or otherwise removed from the garden before it goes to seed and propagates itself. Sometimes, when crabgrass is close in around plants, there's nothing for it but to bend over and pull. Nurserymen have various crabgrass controls, however, that makes its elimination much easier when you catch it in lawns or in other wide open spaces.

AMONG THE FLOWERS—Nancy Angelot, Miss Daly City, who's pretty as a flower herself, is shown here at the Lake Merced Nursery, 2231 Junipero Serra boulevard, where she will work this summer as typist and receptionist. Nancy will compete July 19 in the Miss San Mateo County fair contest.

New CSM Record For Summer School

College of San Mateo's new, expanded summer session attracted an unprecedented flood of students when classes began last week. Dr. William H. Miller, director of the session, announced that final enrollment will be close to 3,500.

Course offerings in the current program number 105 as compared to twenty-five for the 1961 session which enrolled 721 students. The great influx of students last week required the creation of thirteen additional sections with the largest concentration being in the language arts area.

According to Dr. Miller, it had been anticipated that the summer program would appear to this year's high school graduates and to local residents who have been in attendance at other colleges and universities during the past semester. It was also thought that the offerings would be attractive to many of the 14,000 students enrolled in the regular day and evening classes of the College. Registration this week confirmed these expectations except that the number of this year's high school graduates was lower than anticipated.

The summer session curriculum consists primarily of offerings in academic areas closely related to degree programs. With the move to the new College Heights campus next year, it is planned to expand the summer program to include courses in most of the technical and vocational area, and to provide challenging forum-type programs of interest to the entire community.

Dr. Miller said that a majority of the 3,200 students have registered in evening courses. Classes meeting on Monday and Wednesday evenings have 999 of the 1,716 attending night classes, while the Tuesday-Thursday program has attracted 717. Daytime classes are scheduled during the mornings only and have an enrollment of almost 1500 students.

Enrollment in day classes was closed at mid-week but evening students continued to register through June 25. There are no registration nor tuition fees for the Summer Session, nor are there any matriculation requirements except that students enrolling in college-level English must qualify through Placement Examinations or by virtue of previous work.

Sergeant Stewart is assigned to the 28th Organizational Maintenance Squadron here as a jet aircraft mechanic.

Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett M. Stewart, 444 Templeton street, Daly City, is a graduate of Balboa High School, San Francisco. He and his wife, the former Norda E. Tow of 2260 Nineteenth avenue, San Francisco, have one child, Julie.

Youths Rescued By Coast Guard

Four youths were rescued Sunday after ocean tides trapped them at the base of Mussel Rock, south of Daly City.

The four were Robert DeGroot, 18, of 56 Vendome street, Daly City; Gilbert Dinsmore, 17, of 362 Irvington street, Daly City; Christopher Brown, 17, of 221 Peoria street, Daly City, and Frank Bessig, 17, of 173 Joost street, San Francisco.

The youths were on a shoreline hike from Daly City to the beach at Pacifica when an incoming tide trapped them in a rocky cove at 3:30 p. m. An unidentified motorist called Pacifica police after he heard their shouts, although they were not visible from the Coast Highway, 250 feet above.

The four were plucked to safety by a Coast Guard helicopter after Pacifica fire department rescue experts had descended 100 feet down the cliff by cable.

"We were really cold, but none of us was scared. It was just a lot of trouble for the police and Coast Guard to come down there after us," said DeGroot, one of the four rescued youths.

Youth Arrested On Booze Theft Charge

"WHY?"

By Paris B. Simmons

There appears to be some puzzlement as to the 10 per cent delinquency and pre-delinquency figures used in this column. Therefore, we shall attempt to clarify and verify this computation.

The 10 per cent figure is not based on a single year of statistics, but rather averaged on a six year period, which is the amount of time a youngster is in his or her teens. The 10 per cent figure is not a comparison with adult crime, for juvenile delinquency must be considered as a disease in itself. There may be relationships between dedelinquency and adult crime, which, of course, should be investigated, but for the comparative purpose of the statistical analysis used in this column it is not taken into consideration.

Not Computed

With this brief background, let us use the figures given by our local police department. We may assume from these figures that there were 386 local cases involving juveniles during the 1961 year which required police action. We are aware that there are numerous cases which do not reach the attention of the police, and others that would not appear in this computation. (For instance, the taking of a child to his home by a police officer after curfew.)

Therefore, taking the 386 cases reported by the Daly City authorities and comparing it with the 282 listed by the state of California bureau of criminal statistics in Sacramento, we find a difference of 104 cases. Which indicates that these 104 cases were not referred to the juvenile authorities by the police, for various valid reasons.

Since the difference is some 104 cases, let us take the Daly City figures and reduce it this amount, plus an additional allowance for repeats, to a reasonable 250 cases for the year of 1961.

Grand Total

Using our base figure of six years as the average lever, we multiply six times 250 and arrive at a figure of 1,500. Now this figure supposedly would indicate the number of delinquents in our community, but we have not taken into consideration the potential or predelinquent. Using six as the basis, we divide into the 1,500 and then add this amount to the 1,500 to arrive at a grand total of 1,750 delinquents or pre-delinquents in our community.

When this figure is compared with the census figures for Daly City of between 16,853 to 18,188 children in our community under, 18, we discover the 10 per cent figure is not only a possibility, but a reasonable figure to use in the discussion of juvenile delinquency in our area.

It would be most unwise to take one series of statistics and use them as the complete basis for this figure. There are many other computations which will prove this figure to be much more accurate than the two or thre per cent used in other publications. The two or three per cent indicates, generally, the amount of delinquency reported by the police in the period of one year. Using the six figure as the base, and multiplying it against the two percent, you arrive at a figure of 12 per cent of the total youth population, which again is more realistic.

More Locally Disturbed

At the recent meeting of the Daly City Youth Committee, on June 20, it was stated by school authorities that a study had been made by the state identifying the emotionally disturbed child, and that San Mateo County was included in the study. The results, it was stated, showed that the northern part of our county had more cases of emotionally disturbed than any other community surveyed.

When questioned by the chair as to the percentage, it was brought out that some of the studies showed as high as 13 per cent for our community. Again, the 10 per cent figure appears to be verified.

It must be emphasized that in order to treat a disease it must first be recognized as one. Juvenile delinquency is a serious problem not only to our community but throughout the state and nation. Just a few days ago the writer spent several days in Northern California and found that interested citizens in that area are actively engaged in attempts to overcome similar problems. In fact, a sharing of information between a number of Redding, Calif., and Shasta County citizens working on this problem, and the writer, may prove to be of great benefit to both communities. A further meeting is planned in a month and the results will be presented in this column.

Finally, the 10 per cent figure used in this column indicates the number of children who will be classified as delinquent sometime during their teen-age lives, currently, in the past, or in the future. To consider delinquency on the basis of a single year in proportion to the teen-age population does not give a clear picture of the problem with which our community is faced.

A special word of appreciation to Mrs. Lebonville of Pacifica for her excellent report and investigation into the experimental reading clinic being held in San Mateo, directed by Dr. Burke. We shall be looking forward to the final evaluation of this program for presentation in this column.

Due to the fact that the Daly City Youth Committee is currently investigating the possibility of obtaining a mental health clinic for this community, it is deemed advisable to delay answering the several requests for a discussion of this program in this column until the sub-committee headed by Richard Foster makes public its finding through the youth committee. Preliminary investigation indicates a great need for this service in our area, and interested citizens are urged to cooperate with the sub-committee in every way possible.

New Rehabilitation Center Opens At Crystal Springs

More than 400 people attended Sunday's Open House from 1 to 4 p.m. at the new addition to the Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center.

Completion of the new unit, now the main building, makes the center one of the most significant and best integrated comprehensive treatment centers in the state, providing treatment in physical, social, emotional, and vocational areas.

H. D. Chope, director of Public Health and Welfare, headed the receiving line, which included members of the Board of Supervisors T. Louis Chess, chairman; Edward R. McDonald, William M. Werder, Alvin S. Hatch; and James V. Fitzgerald; E. R. Stallings, county manager; Einor H. Nordby, superintendant of Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center; Henry R. Tarratt, director of building construction and general services; and Dolores E. Rosa, director of nursing.

Total cost of the new building is $1,316,812.34. It includes structure, 43,120 sq. ft., architects fees, fixed equipment, movable equipment, landscaping and initial stock of consumable supplies. The project was financed under the Hill-Burton act; one-third county funds; one-third state funds; one-third Federal funds.

The new unit adds 64 beds to the former 136 bed capacity in the two older buildings, boosting the patient capacity to 200 for the center.

Largest single group of diseases treated includes the cardio-vascular diseases, including strokes, hyper-tensions, coronary, various thrombosis; in addition to various types of severe and moderately severe arthritis, fractures from falls and automobile accidents, multiple sclerosis, cerebral palsy, etc.

Fuchsias

The fact that fuchsias are in bloom doesn't mean that the gardener should discontinue pinching and feeding them. You have to sacrifice some bloom occasionally to pinch the plants back, but rest assured that you will always get far more color in the long run. Feed container-grown fuchsias every two or three weeks with liquid fish. Feed those in the ground only once a month. Water frequently, of course.

Quiet Students Show Up Best In Classroom Test

The "quiet" students beat the "vocal" students in a unique test of group behavior conducted recently on the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

The results came as a startling surprise to the "vocal" students, who thought they had outperformed their silent classmates on every score.

Hardly less surprised were the "quiet" students, who had previously expressed strong dissatisfaction with their work on a group task.

The experiment may hold some lessons on the values of different kinds of leadership—and on the fact that ability to "speak out" isn't the only quality needed in a good leader.

Setting for the experiment was a graduate course in the School of Public Health supervised by Dr. Andie Knutson, lecturer in public health and director of the school's behavioral science project.

During the first few weeks of the semester, the students (who were unaware of the experiment) were divided into three groups, "very vocal," "vocal," "quiet" and "very quiet"—all evenly matched in intelligence.

Each group was assigned a similar task: To test and evaluate a public health pamphlet and to make a group report recommending ways the pamphlet could be improved.

When the four reports were later judged by expert consultants in the California Department of Public Health, the work of the two "quiet" groups was unanimously ranked first.

The "vocal" students, it appeared, had been unable to work as a team, and in the "very vocal" group no one had even bothered to read the entire report before it was submitted.

Summing up the results, Dr. Knutson said that "fast-speaking members of the vocal group needed a leader who could hold them back until sound decisions were reached, help them to evaluate progress and make necessary changes in plans, coordinate ideas and findings, and make sure that an integrated product resulted."
